18 November 1846 – Bishop Newel K. Whitney, Albert P. Rockweed, William Clayton, Cornelius P. Lott and John Scott were appointed to ascertain the situation and condition of the Church property in camp. Bro. Lorenzo D. Young was honorably discharged from the sheep committee at his own request. A committee was appointed to labor and advise with the stray herd committee that the animals might be better taken care of; and Charles Bird was instructed to crib the corn purchased on the other side of the river. It was agreed that all the animals running at large between sunrise and sunset should be treated as strays.
