BIOGRAPHY: William Cutter married Rebecca Rolfe, whose father , John Rolfe of Cambridge originally from Newbury, came hither about 1670 from Nantucket Island. William and wife were admitted to membership in Cambridge Church, 28 Jul, 1700, and the cherished relic, the family bible, bears marked evidence of frequent use. He was as heir of his father's estate and an executor of his will. A carpenter by profession, he was something of an husbandman, and dealt largely in real estate. In addition to these pursuits he appears to have added that of a miller, and carried on this business in mills erected on the banks of the stream near his house.

RESEARCH: "History of Cambridge, Massachusetts 1630--1877"p. 522 ,...."Mr. Cutter resided in Menotomy, not far from the present centre of Arlington. In 1685 he purchased of John Rolfe the mill formerly called 'Cook's Mill,' which long remained in his family, and is known as 'Cutter' Mill."
